

GLOBAL BUSINESS AND ORGANIZATIONAL EXCELLENCE

A Review of Research & Best Practices

Published first as the National Productivity Review and later as The Journal of Organizational Excellence, Global Business & Organizational Excellence (GBOE) has been published continuously since 1981 and provides its readers with detailed case studies and practical guidance on strategies and techniques that can be used to enhance business performance and competitive position. The journal is currently published six times a year and has a strong practitioner focus. Its articles are mostly based on mature initiatives that have already demonstrated their effectiveness. Its readers consist mainly of executives and senior managers in business and government, academics and consultants.

GBOE is currently looking for authors to provide the following types of articles:

- Articles that present the results of practical, applied academic research on topics related to international business that are written in a form suitable for a broad audience that includes practitioners as well as academics.
- Articles on organizations (business, government, or not-for-profit) written by practicing managers or consultants that provide current, real-life examples of the ways in which their organizations have achieved excellence.
